Transit Oriented Los Angeles 2016

Los Angeles is on the move. From the recent completion of Metro Rail expansions in the San Gabriel Valley and to the beach—with more underway—to progress on LAX access and the roll-out of Bike Share, the region is investing a multi-modal transportation transformation. How should the planning and real estate community respond to this substantial infrastructure investment?

This is your chance to learn about the latest opportunities and tools for success from local and national experts.
